options. Genre Filter: Some Random Song Generator applications don't have a very good song selection. It just gives you hundreds of songs in a database. To fix this problem, you can choose to filter your songs by genre! This will make sure that Random Song Generator gives you only songs in your desired genre.

Song Genre: The song genre is very important in random song generator applications. A song will generally sound a bit different when it is played from a different genre. So if you don't have your own database of songs, you can use a random song generator application to filter your songs by genre! Country Filter: Country filter is very similar to genre filter. The same principle applies, a song will sound different when it is played from a different country! So you can filter your songs by country to get a random song generator with the songs you want to hear!

Languages: You can also filter your songs by language! This will ensure that your random song generator application will only give you songs in a certain language. Favourite:

Have you ever listened to a song and thought that it was pretty good?

Well, you can add that song to your favourites in a random song generator! Lyrics: Sometimes you want to listen to a song and you can't make out the lyrics. This is a very common problem! Luckily, Random Song Generator has a solution for this! You can filter your songs by lyrics, and then it will give you random songs with good lyrics! Play Mode: In other random song generator applications, songs will play back to their full duration. This can be very annoying if you are trying to quickly get to another song! This problem can be easily fixed by having the Play mode option. This option will simply skip the song that is currently playing, so you can keep listening to random songs without having to wait! Play Songs Until They're Finished: Some Random Song Generator applications will only give you songs that are

tube (hereinafter, referred to as a "CRT"), a phosphor screen on a first substrate of a panel is formed to be surrounded by a non-aperture part and an aperture part, and a shadow mask made of a thin plate is arranged between the phosphor screen and the first substrate. Each of the non-aperture part and the aperture part has an electron beam inlet part for injecting an electron beam into a front side thereof and an electron beam exit part for emitting the electron beam emitted from a back side thereof. The shadow mask is arranged between the first substrate and the phosphor screen with a predetermined distance therebetween in such a manner that the electron beam inlet part of each of the non-aperture part and the aperture part is aligned with the electron beam exit part of the corresponding one. The shadow mask has a plurality of electron beam passing holes formed at a predetermined distance and having a predetermined diameter, which holes are arranged in a matrix. In the CRT, a desired one of phosphors emitting three primary colors, red, blue, and green, is selected and applied to the respective electron beam inlet parts of the aperture part and the non-aperture part. Thereby, the red, blue, and green phosphors are color-coordinated and displayed on the phosphor screen. The shadow mask is made of, for example, an extremely thin, flat plate of a metal such as an Incon
