D-SST: D-SST is a numeric weather forecasting model written by Jose H. Garcia of NOAA and available from NOAA. It is known as the "D" in D-BUG. It is derived from the operational NCEP (National Centers for Environmental Prediction) model NCEP2D. D-SST differs primarily in that it includes a sea ice model, which is based on the Erickson ice model (E-BUG). D-SST also includes more extensive correlation estimation, as well as a faster oceanic surface model based on T.K. Denny. D-BUG was developed by Dr. Peter Kurtyka of NOAA and is a derivative of D-SST. It differs from D-SST primarily in its computational efficiency and in that it avoids the use of dynamic time-delay correlation in favor of statistically correlated noise.ZÜRICH (Reuters) - Swiss court summons Facebook (FB.O) Chief Executive Mark Zuckerberg to give evidence in a privacy case, the latest legal headache for the world's largest social network. Slideshow (2 images) In a ruling on a Facebook privacy case the court said Zuckerberg would be required to appear for a formal hearing on Friday on its efforts to boost compliance by the world's most popular social network with data protection and consumer laws. The case was brought by the Office of the Swiss Data Protection Supervisor (OED) against Facebook last year, over how it had handled the data of over 50 million users in 2017 and 2018. Facebook said in a statement on Monday that it respected the decision of the Zurich regional court and that it was concerned about the privacy implications of the case. "Facebook is committed to protecting the data of our users and has been for years. We have worked hard over the past two years with the Swiss Data Protection Supervisor and we will continue to do so," a Facebook spokesperson said. Facebook's parent company, Facebook Inc. FB.O, has been criticised for not changing its business practices despite huge evidence of abuse by Cambridge Analytica, the political consultancy that is said to have used data it obtained from millions of Facebook users improperly during the 2016 U.S. election. Zurich prosecutors declined to comment. The case is one of several legal actions against Facebook in Switzerland over its handling of users' data.
