Yet they said me: you shouldn't worry, it's all fine with us!! Could you provide the name of the method that you use for checking legality? Click to expand... Hello! Thanks for your quick answer. I'm still working on this project. In every spare moment I have, I've been trying to verify this code without success, but I would really appreciate your help here. I have the Xentry code generator and its generated code is absolutely legit. Please provide some sample code so that I can have a look at the core. I'll appreciate your help. Hello! Ok. I have been looking for this awesome generator, but I couldn't find any working version. The one that has been the closest to my needs was the Nokia :) But it didn't work. It would not work, and not complete the process. This is what happens when I choose the code generator: 1: The "Download" button would appear in the bottom of the window, but it would not work. 2: I would press "Firmware Firmware" button. Then the right button would appear at the bottom of the window. 3: I would click that button. Then the right button would change to the one of the device in the device list (see the attached image of the window). 4: I would click "Save to disk". Then the window would disappear. 5: After this step, I would receive a mail that the code was completely downloaded. 6: The
